Charleston Radiologists, PA Welcomes New Physician

August 27, 2007 Charleston Radiologists, PA welcomes Dr. John G. McGue to its North Charleston practice. Dr. McGue brings over 12 years of experience and specializes in Interventional Radiology.

A graduate of the Indiana University of Medicine in 1991, Dr. McGue completed his residency in Diagnostic Radiology at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in 1995 and a fellowship in Vascular and Interventional Radiology at the Medical University of South Carolina in 2004. He received his board certification from the American Board of Radiology in 1995 and a Certificate of Added Qualification (CAQ) in Vascular and Interventional Radiology in 2005.

Dr. McGue has co-authored articles for several peer-reviewed medical journals and is an experienced presenter in Vascular and Interventional Radiology procedures. He served for five years on the Board of Directors of the LaPorte Hospital Foundation in Indiana and is currently a member of several professional organizations including the Society of Interventional Radiology, the American College of Radiology and the Radiological Society of North America.

“Dr. McGue’s extensive knowledge and expertise in the cutting edge field of Interventional Radiology will be a tremendous asset to our practice and to the community,” says Dr. Michael C. Garovich, President, Charleston Radiologists, PA. “We continue our commitment to providing our patients the most experienced physicians and excellence in medical imaging services.”

Charleston Radiologists, PA is a 20 physician radiology practice that has served the greater Charleston area for over 30 years. Our board certified radiologists are highly trained and are committed to imaging excellence by merging the most advanced technology with subspecialty interpretations.
